

Sachin Chaudhary

Partner, McKinsey & Company, Singapore

► Summary experiences

- Leads McKinsey's Healthcare Practice in Southeast Asia (SEA)
- Served a broad range of healthcare clients across the value chain including several top hospital players globally and in Asia on various strategy, performance improvement, and operational topics
- Advised various healthcare investors on strategy, healthcare entry, M&A, and business building

► Example engagements

- Led various projects with one of the largest hospital chains in Asia on strategy and operational topics
- Developed healthcare strategy for a large investor in SEA
- Led a turn-around strategy and implementation for a hospital player in SEA
- Advised a leading hospital chain in the region on its international growth strategy
- Advised a real-estate player for entry in healthcare
- Developed healthcare entry strategy for a diversified player in India
- Led strategy and due-diligence study in China for a large international provider chain
- Conducted in depth evaluation of impact of US healthcare reforms and current trends on a large hospital chain to build capabilities and strategies needed

► Education and other background information

- B.E. in mechanical engineering with distinction from N.I.T. Karnataka, India
- M.B.A. in general management from Darden School of Business; Henry and Annie Lewis merit scholar and received the Faculty Award for Academic Excellence